Abstract: Multilayer neural networks trained with the back-propagation algorithm constitute the best example of a successful gradient based learning technique. Given an appropriate network architecture, gradient-based learning algorithms can be used to synthesize a complex decision surface that can classify high-dimensional patterns, such as handwritten characters, with minimal preprocessing.

Gradient-based learning applied to document recognition ...

Who Cares? An Argument for a Shift in Focus of Stakeholder Analysis. An analysis of the controversy over labor practices in the strawberry fields of California leads to two conclusions: 1) we need to explore the implications of “ second-order levels ” of responsibility, and 2) traditional stakeholder mapping can miss the mark by focusing on a specific firm rather than on a social problem.
