Does God Love Everyone The

Scripture's full teaching on God's love sheds needed light on aphorisms such as "God loves everyone the same way," or "God loves us unconditionally." In many places Scripture depicts God's love as conditioned by obedience, Carson points out. On the other hand, God's love for his people is unconditional—thanks to the work of Christ.

Does God Love Everyone the Same?

And it's just not true that God loves us unconditionally. He's placed an absolute condition by which He requires—He doesn't just invite people to come to His Son—He commands all men everywhere to repent of their sins and to come to Christ. And if you want to enjoy the love of complacency you have to be in Christ.

Is It Biblical to Say That God Loves Everyone?

Answer: There is a sense in which God loves everyone in the whole world (John 3:16; 1 John 2:2; Romans 5:8). This love is not conditional—it is rooted in God's character and based on the fact that He is a God of love (1 John 4:8, 16). God's love for everyone could be thought of as His "merciful love," since it results in the fact that God does not immediately punish people for their sins (Romans 3:23; 6:23).

Does God love everyone or just Christians? | GotQuestions.org

While God does love everyone, relationship with Him is restored only through the sacrifice of Jesus. God loves those who do not yet know Him, and He longs for them to turn to Him (2 Peter 3:9). He will woo them to Himself and give them opportunity to come to saving faith, but He will not deny His justice. So only those who have been saved by grace through faith will experience God's love for eternity. So, yes, God does love everyone. But only those who follow God can enter into the fullness ...

Does God love everyone or just Christians?

God loves everyone, and wants every person to be with him. However, love is a choice, and he will honor whatever choice people make. After all, he is the one who created us, and the big issue we have is sin, because of our sin, we are broken. So it's hard to see the entire picture.

Does God Love Everyone? | You Are Valued And Loved ...

The gist of his argument is certainly valid: It is folly to think that God loves all alike, or that He is compelled by some rule of fairness to love everyone equally.

Does God So Love the World? - Grace to You with John MacArthur

Now, the problem arises when folks go beyond Scripture and infer from those statements that God, because of his love for all people, cannot and does not elect some to everlasting life, but all.

Does God Love the Non-Elect? | Desiring God

From the beginning of Genesis, human beings are described as having a need for relationship, just as God himself is relational. Sexuality is a core part of what it means to be a relational person,...

10 Reasons God Loves Gay Christians | Time

Surely God loves us all the same. Surely he couldn't do something like play favorites. But the Holy Spirit went on to explain, "Same would mean one of you are replaceable...I don't love my children equally. I love them uniquely."

No, God Does Not Love Everyone Equally - Faithit

Walls discusses how Calvinists, like D. A. Carson, say that God loves everyone but only in the sense of his providential care for all people and a general salvific stance toward the creation. But that God does not love everyone with his "selective love toward his elect." (pp 38-9).

Does God Love Everyone?: The Heart of What's Wrong with ...

To teach that God loves everyone (even those who end up in hell) is to rob the child of God of comfort and "strengthen the hands of the wicked, that he should not return from his wicked way, by promising him life" (Eze. 13:22).

Is It Biblical to Say That God Loves Everyone? - YouTube

If you believe that God loves everyone, let's take this belief to its logical conclusion: either God stops loving unbelievers at some point, or He never stops, even after they're in hell. The ultimate extension of this logic is that everyone, eventually, will end up in heaven, and that hell will be empty. Does this sound familiar?

Does God Love Everyone? (Part 2) – To the Remnant

Does God love everyone is disputed, abused, misunderstood, and perverted. There are many being confused and lead astray when it comes to God's love. In doing this I will not even scratch the surface of the bottomless well of the love of God. — The teaching goes like this, God loves you and accepts you.

Does God Love Everyone | Living His Word

In my last blog, I stated that God loves everyone, unconditionally and that love is the very nature of God. I believe that with all of my heart, but it is good to be challenged now and again. After publishing last week's blog, a long-term friend came round to see us. She had just read...

Does God love everyone? – Compassion and Justice

Certainly it appears that God does have a sense of love for even His enemies, and we are to reflect that sense of love as Christians. Very clearly this passage is speaking of what we would call "common grace" or "beneficent love".
