The Creation is an oratorio written between 1797 and 1798 by Joseph Haydn, and considered by many to be one of his masterpieces. The oratorio depicts and celebrates the creation of the world as described in the Book of Genesis. The libretto was written by Gottfried van Swieten. The work is structured in three parts and scored for soprano, tenor and bass soloists, chorus and a symphonic orchestra. In parts I and II, depicting the creation, the soloists represent the archangels Raphael, Uriel and

Most versions of the Creation are sung in German and performed with a philharmonic orchestra and a massive choir. This version by the Choir of King's College, Cambridge and the Academy of St. Martin-in-the-Fields breaks with the philharmonic tradition in multiple ways as it uses the original version written by Haydn on an English text and requires smaller-scale forces, both for the choir and ...
